The very first interview

...for the very first EUJWC tournament newspaper we decided to have with Paul Eriksson. Sure many of you know him well. Paul is a boardmember of EFDF (European Flying disc Federation), and EFDF's coordinator for EUJWC '03. But he is also the man, who introduced Ultimate to Estonia.

Why and how was Estonia chosen to be the organizing country this year?

At last years world junior championships in Riga, Latvia, the coaches and responsible staff for the junior womens teams had a discussion, and realised that it wouldn't be realistic for the french european championships organisers to feature the junior womens division, when only Sweden and Finland being able to make it. Great Britain figured they'd have a team at this time, and if so they were willing to make the trip.

So in order to have a bigger turnout of teams and more games, the decision was to try to have it staged in one of the Baltic countries. The aim was to ask the Tallinn club as first option (hoping that they'd also get juniors organised because of the tournament on hometurf), and then have the Latvian Association and Riga as a possible backup. When the Tallinn club agreed after an official request from EFDF, the decision was taken in November last year.

The history of frisbee in Estonia – rumors tell you were the one who brought it here ;)

Paul: In September 1995 we were 4 players from Sweden that made our first trip to our eastern neighboring countries, with the goal of getting the frisbeesport established. We visited Tallinn, St Petersburg and Riga, and it was actually only in St Petersburg where there was any group active from the start. In Tallinn and Riga we contacted the YMCA, and in both cases one contact led to another, and eventually we got hold of the players who are still active today, more or less.

After that we started up projects in Latvia and Russia to help the sport develop, and this was with government funding. The idea was also, at the same time, share the scandinavian concept of volunteer, non-profit club organisation, and the goal to have national flying disc federations established. In Estonia we hoped the finns could help out, and in most cases it's been with the big support of finnish clubs and players that we've been able to help the baltic clubs to organise tournaments.

Expectations and hopes for the future?

For this tournament lotsa fun games and good spirit, and national teams going home from these championships with a big motivation to make it to the 11th WUC (world ultimate championships) next year in Turku/Åbo, Finland !!!!

ESTONIA ? In this first paper we thought, that besides the usual articles and information about the tournament we would give you a brief overview of the country and the people who live here. Not just dry statistics, a little something to know your hosts better - keep reading.

Estonians

"An Estonian's motto for behaviour," says Estonian psychiatrist Anti Liiv, "is: May your face be as ice: It's better not to say anything because, as America's police say, anything you say can be used against you." That may be a slight exaggeration, but it's true Estonians aren't prone to emotional extremes, and can be standoffish. This can be misunderstood: just because they don't pour praise over you doesn't mean they don't like you. If Estonians do say something, it's usually sincere and direct. While they can be stiff, Estonians aren't prudes. There's a strong libertarian strain here: most Estonians believe you ought to be able to do your own thing, soar to new heights or dig your own grave, so long as you don't infringe on anyone else's space. Estonians don't like their country being described as tiny. They're fond of pointing out that many nations are smaller. Geographically, Estonia is larger than Denmark, Belgium, Holland, Israel and others.

Quotes about Tallinn

"The streets of Tallinn are not straight, and are so narrow that cabmen are forced to ride with bells in order not to run into those coming in the opposite direction. An inquisitive gossip can see everything across a street into the room of her neighbour." Russian officer Alexander Bestuzhev in 1821, in an account of his trip to Tallinn.

"Tallinn...a town of pewter-coloured steeples, red roofs, quaint alleyways, numerous towers like gigantic pepper boxes and a treasure of medieval architecture." The Manchester Quarterly, 1933.

Tallinn - town with a long history

Tallinn has been sacked, pillaged and bombed so many times over the centuries, it's a wonder anything from the past survives at all. First there were the invading Danes, then the Teutonic Knights, the Swedes, the Russians, the Nazis, and the Soviets. But Tallinn still is one of the best retained medieval European towns. All the most important state and church buildings from the Middle Ages have been preserved in their basic original form, as well as many citizens' and merchants' residences, along with barns and warehouses from the medieval period. Since 1997, the Old Town of Tallinn has been on UNESCO's World Heritage list. Its powerful defensive structures have protected Tallinn from being destroyed in wars, and its lack of wooden buildings has protected it from burning down. But it is also crucial that Tallinn hasn't been massively rebuilt in the interest of dispensing with the old and modernising the town. If you decide to take a walk in the Old Town, here are some suggestions for sightseeing

Town Hall Square

The Town Hall Square has been a marketplace, fairground and meeting place for centuries. The square in front of the Town Hall functioned as a marketplace even before the Town Hall itself was built. The square was used for celebrations, but also for executions. Today, the square is a social focus of the city, filled with outdoor cafés in the summer, as well as open-air concerts, handicraft fairs and medieval markets.

Kiek in de Kōk

Kiek in de Kōk, situated on the slope of Toompea Hill, is the most powerful defense tower in the Baltic region. Today the tower holds a permanent exhibit on the emergence of Tallinn, on three floors, tells the story of the birth and development of Tallinn and the most important military events from the 13th to the 18th centuries. The external wall still holds stone and iron cannonballs from Russian tsar Ivan IV.

Dominican Monastery

St. Catherine's Dominican Monastery is the oldest cloister in downtown Tallinn. St. Catherine's monastery was founded in 1246. The structure of the building is that of a typical Catholic cloister. The most powerful building in the cloister complex is the church.

St. Catherine's Passage

St. Catherine's Passage (Katariina käik) connects Vene and MÜürivahe streets. You can see the remaining portions of St. Catherine's Church in the northern part of the passage. Residential buildings from the 15th to the 17th centuries stand along the sides of the southern section of the Passage. The Passage was rediscovered and given new life in the summer of 1995, but is still imbued with a medieval milieu.

Second interview ...

Today we interviewed Arttu Hautamäki, the assistant coach of Finland's women team.

First tell us a little bit about your team?

Our team is only two years old, so I guess we have still a lot of room for improvement. Finnish team consists of almost the same members as it did last year. But we are definitely better than we were then.

How long have you been with the team?

I have been with the team since the beginning. In other words - two years.

How much training does Frisbee require?

As a team we have been training for 3 weekends, because the girls come from different places of Finland. But normally the players have trainings 3 times week.

Has the team been to any previous tournaments? (if yes, when, where)

Yes, last year we participated in the World Tournament in Riga. We came in last, but this year we mean to achieve a better place.

Impressions of Estonia and this year's tournament? How is accommodation?

We really like it here. Partly because we are acquainted to most of the organizers of the tournament, partly cause we know the city (Tallinn) well. And best of all - Estonia is not far for us to come to. We arrived today I can't say anything about the lodging yet.

Who do you consider the toughest competitors this year?

(Arttu laughs) Sweden of course. They have a really strong team. As for today's (Thursday) game, it was the first one at this tournament for us, and we had to meet them. The toughest challenger. But our girls did very well. By the way, did you see their defense?

What are your expectations for these 4 days in Tallinn?

To be better than last year. To play and learn a lot.

Anything else you'd like to say?

If you want to see a good game with tough defense and good tactics - come challenge Finland.

Thursday's moments

Baltic Open Field 1 14.00

Although in the morning it seemed the day would be quite cloudy, by the beginning of the games at 2 o'clock the sky was clear and the sun smiled on both the playing-fields. Guess this amongst other factors motivated Sweden, who in the first game of the Baltic Open Tournament got off to a good start against Latvia. In spite of some very nice efforts and close calls by the Latvian team, and one of their players getting a serious injury, Sweden managed to hold the leader position. The final score was Sweden -17 Latvia - 7

EUJWC

At 16.25 the tournament continued, as women began to play. On field 1 Sweden took on Finland, while on the second field Latvia faced United Kingdom. These games were really great to look at and the players seemed to enjoy themselves on the field as much. It is said that history tends to repeat itself. This was proved true again yesterday as Latvia beat UK by 9 points. The game ended with a score 17 : 8

Baltic Open Field 2 14.00

Simultaneously with Latvia versus Sweden on the second field a Baltic Open game between Russia and UK gathered speed. Loud cheering in the English rows marked the first point for UK. Although the Russians gave UK quite a hard time, this time victory slipped away. The game ended with a score very similar to Latvia and Sweden - 7:17 with UK in the lead.

The language heard most during the match on the first field was Finnish. Finnish coaches held the spirit of their team up fabulously. You could hear something like "hyvaa Sonja" "tsemppia Marja, alkaa antakaa metriakaan niille". A minor disagreement between the teams was solved quickly and the game moved on. Final result - Sweden 17, Finland 10.

Guys from GB ...

After the match between Great Britain - Estonia Internal we managed to get hold on some players of the GB team, who were nice enough to give us a brief to the tournament newsletter. PS. you can see the from the photo-series they can do a lot more than talk ;)

Hi, how did the game go?

Considering it was the first time for Estonians to be competing on such a tournament we find it quite a good game actually.

Have you been to Estonia before?

Nope, this is our first time in Estonia. We like it here. Especially weather - it's just great. We haven't been out in the city yet, but we are going to stay here for a few days after the tournament, so then we still have time to do that. By the way - are there any nightclubs?

Where are you staying and what do you think of the place?

We are at Sikupilli school. The place is pretty fine, though the floors could be softer.

Is this the first tournament for you and what do you expect of it?

For few of us it really is the first, but the majority has been to four or five previous tournaments. The goal here at the Baltic Open is to beat Sweden of course - hey don't write that down yet! ;) We have beaten them once before.

Tomorrow

A word with Latvians, Russians and Swedes, lot of fun pictures and of course gossip, gossip and gossip !

Friday 09.08 Yet another fine day. The weather seems to favor the EUJWC tournament this year.

The opening matches on Friday took place at 10.00 between Estonia\Russia against Finland on the first field. On the second one Sweden went to face the United Kingdom.

Estonia\Russia against Finland

As neither Estonia nor Russia had enough players of their own for a team, it was decided beforehand to form a mixed team. It was the first time for Estonia, Russia and even Sweden to team up. As the the players have not had any practice together, it was not only a challenge against Finland but a challenge within the team itself too.

Virge (Estonia\Russia player)

There were some good and some negative sides to the game. The fact that we have never played together as a team surely disturbed a lot. While training you get to know your teammates, how they react, their strengths and weaknesses. But in this case you do not really know who to trust with what. If you cannot predict how somebody is going to respond to your throw or defense it is hard to rely on them. So - much in this game was left to chance. But overall it was a good game. To play side by side with such superior players, the experience we all get here at the EUJWC - that is something to remember. Much of it we owe to our coach Eric, for he has just been fantastic. His calm, supportive attitude is a great help. And he always explains everything.

Seems like the teams of Sweden have everybody walking on their toes. I asked Paul Eriksson to comment, why do people consider Sweden the toughest competition...and got yet another comment I am not supposed to write down :)

I think it may be because the Swedes are kind of boringly organized. Actually we can be described as the Japanese of Europe. We have rules and when it's time to do something you go and DO that something. It is a mentality thing really.

The team that everyone fears

We got hold of Sweden (open) after their first loss at this tournament. Not a good time for an interview?

Hi, how did the game go? Bad.

About team? Since last year 9 players have changed. That's about a half of our team. As we all come from different parts of Sweden we have been training together for two weekends. Normally each of us trains in their own club. We have been to previous tournaments for example in Prague and Riga. This is not quite as good. But it's good to have a lot of teams on a tournament. In Prague there were only four.

What is the name of your coach? Erik and CHalle (I was asked to write it down this exact way)

Ever been to Estonia before? Impressions. No. (One player has) The culture here is very different and the food too. Also here is a great difference between the rich and poor.

Are you satisfied with the lodging? No. They could have at least cleaned the place up before the players came. There is no toilet paper and the toilets don't have doors. And they are locked for the night.

Everyone here seems to figure Sweden is the strongest team. Can you tell me why?
(Without any hesitation) Because we are.

Who is your toughest competitor? Great Britain. When we went up against them, we had a feeling we would win. But it turned out they had both great offence and defense. We played hard too, but had some concentration problems which led to easy mistakes. And so we lost.

Something you want to say to the other players? Get ready to have your ass kicked !

Saturday 10.08

Latvia (open)

Latvian boys seem to like the tournament. Although over the years players have changed Latvia itself has been on about 10 tournaments. As for Estonia - it is their fourth time here. Weather and sea have given the Latvians a positive impression of the country. As usual - they too consider Sweden the hardest team to face. Have not beaten them yet, but are sure that day will come in its own time. For this tournament Latvians wish everyone luck and to keep the spirit.

Latvian Junior Women coach Inese Birgele:

The team was formed in the beginning of May. We had 20 initial candidates, 14 out of them got selected. Since then we have trained regularly.

About 40% of the girls are new, so for them the EUJWC is the first tournament. Here we have had a chance to play a lot of good games. Two of them we won, two lost and the last two are still ahead.

The toughest challenger for Latvian team so far has been Finland. For when we played against Sweden, it was a 90 % sure loss from the beginning. They are just out of our league yet. But with Finland the difference is not so big, we play approximately on the same level, so the chances for a fair game and winning were better. It was raining at the beginning of the game, in spite of that the players enjoyed it so much, they all even sang on the bus afterwards.

Here we stay in the Sikupilli School; I think it is okay, (same as in Latvia). As most of our girls still go to school they know what to expect of a "school-lodging". The party held there at the first night was a very nice one. Everybody was free to do what they wanted - dance, play Frisbee or just walk around..

All in all I think it is a very good experience for the girls to play here. At home they are the best of their field. But since Ultimate is not yet widely known in Latvia there aren't many opponents to play against. So facing these different teams here is a great opportunity to practice and improve.

Women Loud cheering filled the fields this afternoon as Estonia\Russia went to face Great Britain. Estonian team made some real nice moves but the British blocked them out just as good. The game turned out so equal, that it was decided to play overtime. Finally the defense and tactics of the GB overcame Estonia\Russia. The match finished with GB in the lead by 2 points, which brought them their first victory at the EUJWC.

Open Saturday's most interesting and most professional game took place at 14.00 on the first field, when GB set out to meet Sweden. It was a really intense game, with fantastic tactics of both teams sure to catch anyone's eye. Yay! for the British achieving their goal - these guys took victory over Sweden.

SOMETHING NEW! Estonian Int'l considers UK the toughest challenger. "These guys just outran us!"
