GOVERNOR

A MESSAGE FROM DIRK KEMPTHORNE
Governor of Idaho

It is my pleasure, on behalf of the citizens of Idaho, to welcome you to Boise for the Ultimate Players Association College National Championship.

Boise combines the best of Western charm with modern convention facilities, first-rate restaurants and hotels suitable to meet your every need. It is a gateway to our state's historical, cultural and recreational opportunities. While in town, I hope you will take advantage of all Boise has to offer.

Again, welcome to Idaho's capital city. Play hard, play safe, and enjoy the tournament.

Best wishes.

Sincerely,

DIRK KEMPTHORNE
Governor

I am a new fan of ultimate, having watched my first game last year in Boulder at the 1999 national tournament. I was hooked immediately as I watched the balletic movements of the players. I love the speed of the game, the jumping and stretching for the disc, and especially the "layouts" for a save in the end zone. I admire the thought and planning it takes to move the disc successfully up the field. Naturally my absolute favorite part is watching my son race down the field and catch that hucked disc!

I've enjoyed working on this event. I've thoroughly enjoyed my committee and now I look forward to watching a fantastic group of athletes entertain us all with their nationally recognized ability to huck, hammer and hastily move that disc to SCORE!

Be Yourself. Be an inventor.

You don't need tape on your glasses. You don't need to tinker all night long. You don't even need a black and white photo of yourself standing proudly before your invention.

What you need is what you have—originality, your own way of doing things.

That's what it takes. That's what we look for. What are you looking for?

We are currently recruiting for the following disciplines:

Mechanical Engineering
Electrical Engineering
Chemical Engineering
Computer Engineering
Computer Science
Materials Science
Physics
Chemistry

Biology
Information Technology
Operations Research
Management Information Systems
Business Administration
Marketing

Your resume will be routed to the HP ERC (Employment Response Center). The ERC maintains a database of resumes from people like yourself that are seeking employment with HP. This database of resumes is available to over 100 HP Divisions, Operations, and Centers in the United States.

Your information will be eligible for review every time an HP manager has a job opening with requirements that fit your background and interests.

Managers will contact the candidates who best meet their business needs. Because your information can be seen by HP managers across the United States, you may receive phone calls from more than one manager. After six months your information will be removed from our corporate database. If you wish your resume to remain in our database for an additional six months, or if you need to update your address, you can call the Employment Response Center at the number listed below to make the request.

We wish you the best of luck with your job search!

From the National College Director

Welcome to the 2000 UPA College Championships. Whether you are a player, spectator, visitor, or staff, I am sure you will have a fabulous three days. The teams that you will see here have worked amazingly hard to qualify to play in this prestigious tournament. The 2000 tournament is the largest UPA College Championships ever. Sixteen teams in both the Open and Women's divisions will be competing to go home with the first place prize.

A warm "thank you" to the city of Boise, Kienan Slate, Jim Dumont, Patty Sebby, and all of the other volunteers that have worked so hard to make this tournament happen. Sponsors, thank you for your donations. Without you none of this would be possible. The teams, the UPA, and I appreciate your generosity.

In the Open Division, North Carolina State University has returned to defend their 1999 championship. Their quest will not be an easy one as highly favored Brown University looks for its first ever title. Fortunat Mueller and Justin Safdie will be looking to complete the "reverse trifecta" by coming away with the college crown. If the University of Colorado has anything to say about it, this will be their year. Stocked with experience, the MamaBird will look to go all the way to the finals.

The 2000 field is as deep as ever. Perennial powerhouse Carleton College will be looking to take their "height" into the finals by putting the disc up in the air to Alex Nord and Thomas Sebby. It certainly can't hurt that the tournament is in Sebby's back yard. Stanford University, UC Santa Barbara, the University of North Carolina, and Michigan will also try and build on their previous trips to Nationals and could surprise any team if they are not prepared.

In the Women's Division, we will be looking for a new champion. The field seems noticeably absent with Stanford and British Columbia both failing to advance from their Regional tournament. The University of North Carolina at Wilmington rides a number one ranking into the tournament and is the early favorite.

This does not mean that the outcome is guaranteed. The field is strong, with eight or nine teams having a legitimate shot at the title. Carleton College, Brown University, and the University of Georgia will call on veteran experience to carry them through the weekend. Carleton seniors Paige Anderson, Anna Nelson, and Mimi Frusha have been to the finals twice already in their college careers. You can bet they want to return.

The University of California at Davis, a relatively new team, arrives under the leadership of two Cornell alums and previous national qualifiers. Melanie Carr and Kari Deleeuw were at Nationals in 1998 and bring the leadership presence that their team will need to be successful. Davis is peaking at just the right time and should be in top form for the tournament.

The New England region sends two very strong qualifiers in Tufts and Brown. Look for Johanna Neumann from Tufts to lead her team in their first trip to Nationals in six years. Neumann is a favorite for the Callahan Award, given to the college division MVP. Brown is stocked with talent and can go as far down their roster as any other team. Coach Lori Parham will be working very hard to improve on last year's finish.

Georgia, although without their star player Melanie Byrd, has developed to be a very solid team. Katherine Kidd and super coach Will Deaver will be striving for the finals. Keep your eyes peeled. The weekend will be full of excitement. With twelve games going on at any given time, there will be plenty to watch!

As this is my last tournament as the National College Director, I would like to thank everyone for four great years. I have really enjoyed participating in the growth of the UPA College Division and seeing the changes in our sport.

Thank you to all of the volunteers. You do superb work and I couldn't do my job without you! You have put many hours into planning this tournament and everyone of you has contributed to its success. Take a moment to pat yourself on the back.

Spectators and visitors, enjoy the weekend. There will be lots of excitement. You will see the finest college Ultimate played by thirty-two of the top teams in North America. Take advantage of this opportunity and have a great time.

Best regards,

Kate Bergeron
UPA National College Director

From the Executive Director

Welcome to the UPA College Ultimate Championships!

Congratulations to the players and organizers of all 32 teams that not only played well enough this season to qualify, but managed to get a team to Sectionals, Regionals, and all the way to Boise! It takes an enormous team effort both on and off the field to get here - everyone attending deserves to feel proud of this major accomplishment.

A huge THANK YOU is in order for Kate Bergeron, your volunteer National College Director, responsible for development of both college divisions to this point where players expect nearly professional-level service. While working over full-time in the high tech industry, Kate has dedicated an unfathomable amount of mostly thankless effort to college Ultimate over the last 4 years.

Kate is retiring as NCD, so please take a second this weekend to find her and thank her for answering an incredible amount of mail, spending her vacation on Ultimate, and pulling all-nighters to deal with day-to-day management of the divisions as well as the less routine issues that come up from time to time. She responds to suggestions and occasional player frustration responsibly and thoughtfully, the college divisions have grown, and managed the often intense rules discussion in a way that raised the college game to a new level of professionalism while maintaining the elements of Ultimate that make it unique among the family of team field sports. Kate has gone above and beyond for the UPA and the entire college division is deeply indebted to her.

Please also thank (profusely) your Sectional and Regional coordinators, TD Patty Sebby, and all the volunteers here in Boise. UPA volunteers and staff are absolutely essential to what you're experiencing this weekend - it's a pure love of the game that drives this often nutty behavior (takes one to know one!), so keep this spirit of volunteerism fueled with your appreciation both here and back home.

A few other details:

- Consider a lifetime membership to the UPA as a graduation gift ($400). Your support of the UPA with a lifetime membership helps the UPA provide better service and more programs, with participation convenient for the rest of your playing career. Ask someone in the master's division how much they've paid in dues since college and you'll see that lifetime membership can be a worthwhile investment for both you and the sport.

- Got fields? Where do you want the 2001 UPA College Championships? For more information on how to submit a bid to host this awesome event, contact me via email as soon as possible.

- The UPA is in a transition period and we learned a lot this year about how to do and not to do roster collection. Pay attention next year, there may be some big changes, including earlier deadlines! If you have suggestions on A) how to recruit more college teams for the UPA championship series, and B) how to make it easy for teams to join the series, please write! I am totally open to any suggestion - my goal is to make series administration so efficient that 99% of player attention can be focused on play itself.

Last, take a moment to send your best wishes to the Junior Open and Junior Girls National Championships in Philadelphia this same weekend. These young players are hot, full of spirit, and will be in college soon. The juniors and their parents deserve a little more UPA attention than they've received in the past, so I made the tough choice to attend Junior nationals instead of College this year. I know the College Championship is in excellent hands with Kate and Patty in charge. The growth in the UPA's 8 championship divisions is so exciting - it makes for tough choices, yet is a sign of our sport's up-and-coming success at all levels.

Play well, with the highest level athleticism and sportsmanship - do your team and the sport of Ultimate proud. Best of luck to all 32 teams!

Brown U. - Brown Ultimate

1. Who are we? Brown
2. Where do we live? In-tense ( a neighborhood on the East Side of Providence, RI)
3. What do we smoke? Gold. ( A variety of fish. Which tastes delicious when it's smoked).
4. How do we like our women? Fast
5. How do we like our women? See question 4.
6. How do we like our women to procreate? Fast.
7. Who are we? See question 1.

Our team is a Motley bunch:

We have a yeti, a freak, a milkman, a guy named Walter, and two Tobey award winners. We often run a pull play in which only world champions touch the disc. We can field a team full of people going to heaven, and a team full of people going to hell. Unless your team is very good, you will not beat us at ultimate; unless your team cannot drink, your team will beat us at drinking. We kill for fun, and have a lot of skinny players on our roster. Our coach is an ogre, and he makes us run a lot.

We scrimmage D.o.G., and never dog a scrimmage. Our title is that of the team which runs a lot, and we are making a run at the title. We are better looking than most teams, and we are looking better than most teams.

We are psyched to be going to Boise, and we are shooting for the crown.

Two years ago, CUT prophets spoke:

"I have given today every effort I have. That which I did not give I have lost forever."

Last year, CUT and its leader proclaimed:

"Play for yourself, the fans, the alums, but above all else play for your teammates. If you find yourself idle on the sidelines, take a moment to look around at all of your teammates, and think about how any of them would do anything for you. That's what Nationals is about, boys. Not winning or losing, but our team and what we can accomplish as a team. Thanks for the great season. Let's go out with everything we've got."

This year,
there is no sex in our champagne room.

Don't even think about it -
you leave those pants on,
take your complimentary glass of bubbly,
and move right along.

No sex in our champagne room.
None.

Thank you.

Seasons change, mad things rearrange, but it all stays the same like the love dr. strange.

Stanford - Bomb Squad

We are Stanford Ultimate, called the Bomb Squad,
Coming from the Bay, feeling kinda odd.
Our rhymes are buttery, our beats are tight
22 strong, we go all night

East side ridin' is K-rod
West coast chillin' with The Squad
Whit and his posse sparkin' it up
Ryan workin' to finish the cup
OMC sweet, like Mike and Ike
Big Boy Markus goes by "Spike,"
B-Hyde gettin' ill with ladies,
Hightower rollin' da Mercedes,

We be rolling in Bart's 64
Bomb Squadr riding to your door
Pork Chop rollin' shoty,
Soloflex gots da hottie
Jonny Z with da master plan,
Da Maids, da bomb squad in Scotty's van.

Ben on the EL, Ben hitting the source
Laub's the size of the Trojan Horse
Marshall on the plane from Memphis, Tennessee
DC still spinnin' from the coke and hennessey
Jit always pimpin' cuz of his size,
Cam's still looking to economize.
Jeff locked up, Keith servin hard time
Easy E brings up the rear, perpetrating some crime.

Bomb Squad loves D like bats love dark,
I dare you all to break Whit's mark.
Our O will flow more smooth than our rhymes,
Just make sure you duck when we drop some dimes.

UNC - Darkside

"DARKSIDE"

EXT. HOUSE PARTY - NIGHT: A large mansion in the hills of North Carolina cannot contain its guests within the 112 rooms available, and is overflowing people onto its sprawling landscape.

Darkside's own Matt Backer arrives "iced out" in Wu-Wear with one Kevin Eagan. The house is owned by local drug lord/business major Steve Hallmark and his entourage of Kang-fu hookers.

INT. HOUSE PARTY - NIGHT: The party is in full swing complete with BC, AHall, Dav and Steve Hall performing their rendition of Color Me Badd's "I Wanna Sex You Up."

Hallmark enters with his henchmen Chad Scarboro and John "El Caballo" Pearson.

HALLMARK: My party is like whoa.

CHAD: (pointing) Is that CC?

HALLMARK: No, that's a lamp. That's CC.

Steve points at the newly arrived Chris Corcoran who is trying to win "Big Skankin" week by laying his game on a girl who is passed out in her own vomit. It is a new low for him and the team.

INT. BASEMENT OF STEVE'S HOUSE - NIGHT: Wes and Johnny Gill are being learned by Coach Augie Kreivenas on how to play dominoes. He shows them the correct way to shatter a coffee table without spilling one's malt liquor. He is about to scream "Dominoes" but is interrupted by a conversation in the room next door.

INT. ROOM - NIGHT: Carl, Rhett, JB, and Ray are having an in depth discussion.

JB: ...I think that Diesel definitely fueled us to greatness.

RHETT: I have to disagree. I think the icy mint flavor of Rooster smokeless tobacco was our key to success. It lasts, you know.

CARL: I just want to dance.

RAY: I like dancing too.

EVERYONE: Shut up Ray.

RHETT: And take off those damn white cleats.

THE END: a screen play by: John Short

University of Michigan - MagnUM

MagnUM Ultimate has had a roller coaster year. We start with the high of having our best recruiting class ever, to the low of a disappointing finish at the Stanford Invite. We then rebounded with a strong showing at Terminus only to lose several key players to freak injuries. We responded to the adversity with wins at Whitesmoke and the Great Lake Open. As we prepared for regionals, we faced our biggest setback as Tim Murray, captain and callahan candidate, spent a week in the hospital with a staph infection in his knee. MagnUM again responded as we repeated as regional champs with a thrilling 16-14 comeback win (from 14-11) against Dayton in the semis and a 15-10 win over ND in the finals.

This years MagnUM squad is lead on offense by Pfil (#11), Jeff (#7), and Angus (#12). The defense is lead by Rook (#9) along with a host of rookies. Captains Tim (#4) and Hales (#17) provide an all-around attack that is the backbone of this team. The Freight Train is rolling!

University of Wisconsin

All I really need to know I learned playing Wisconsin Ultimate:

Make sure to get your daily dose of iron...Stay upwind when throwing with Bert...Throw it into Rob's chest...Avoid freshmen after they've been drinking...Avoid metal cranes...Do not give Bluhmer sugar...Do not give Tyler sugar, oh wait, he's got some...A frisbee can be dunked, as Nebraska...Some players would be at their best when being guarded by themselves...Be sure to keep your grades up and be sure to bring a Bible with you on spring break...You can't shoot a ninja...Not everyone will be there on April 20th and not everyone will be there during rush week...If you're on MLK Blvd., "Run! Run!"...When beating a team 14-1, it's time for a world's greatest...When the disc is floating and you're guarding Lee, sorry 'bout it...Ain't nobody in Rwanda lactose intolerant, but don't feed Nate a milkshake.

CUT beat our ass, but we drank way more. And EMO was glowing. The truth is, nobody on this team quits. Except Pete. This one's for Kell.

Princeton - Clockwork Orange

Clockwork Orange is the oldest team at nationals. The first intercollegiate ultimate frisbee competition was held in the fall of 1972 between Princeton and Rutgers, making college ultimate half a year younger than our oldest player. We have one player who finally made it to nationals in his 4th game to go...within the last year. We have 3 freshmen, all blonde. We have a player who dunked on Greg Ostertag, a player whose twin brother plays for Wesleyan, and one whose entire body is shaved (almost). We have 2 grad students from Kansas, a player who missed regionals for jury duty, the strongest ultimate player in America, and the fastest webmaster in America. We have a "Sloppy" and a "Lover," but neither of them are sloppy lovers. No one on our team has a moustache. We think it's too bad that UNC-Wilmington isn't here, because then there would be 2 teams whose names pertain to a certain male reproductive fluid. Our best player is better than your best player, and our best poacher is not a vegetarian. Our shortest player and our tallest player both have red hair. We have a player who wears a ski mask in 50 degree weather, one who yells "rubber ducky" when he cuts, and the second strongest ultimate player in America. But we no longer have Dennis Hu.

Still, we have this haiku:

Clockwork Orange was a book? I thought it was just an ultimate team.

The Tufts E-men, hosts of the first ever College National since 1984, will be making their first trip to nationals since 1989 when they were captained by their current coach Jeff "Dick" Brown. After a disappointing 1998 season, the young E-men team fueled by freshmen, sophomores, 3 juniors, and one grad student in 1999 began the rebuilding process with a goal of attending Nationals in 2000. The now experienced E-men team may lack height (and thats an understatement!), but plays big. Keep an eye on their Callahan nominee Seth Mann who will be attending his first nationals in 5 attempts. Also watch out for the E-men party team who has never been afraid to use a landshark or two to aid their undefeated boatrace team in winning a party. After much hard work and lots of traveling from Boston to Stanford, Atlanta, and Wilmington, in addition to local NE tourneys, the E-men are looking forward to ending their 2000 campaign in Boise.

Notre Dame - Papal Rage

Ahhh, Notre Dame, that blessed University in the frozen north of Indiana. Tens of thousands of brave tourists each year fight through the bitter cold and South Bend barrios to visit this fine institution. The patrons of Notre Dame come from far and wide to pay homage to our many landmarks and to watch Purdue beat us in football. But, about eight years ago, beneath the buttoned-down student body, the Knute Rockne icons and the sport-jacketed alumni, a different kind of animal was born. Tony Leonardo, Notre Dame ultimate captain emeritus and present writer for the UPA newsletter, has poetically described this animal as "an impetuous beast whose appetite for chaos and impropriety can be sated only by sick layout D's and drinking cheap beer out of a frisbee." Such is Papal Rage Ultimate-wherever long-haired youths are diving into mud puddles after a disc, that is where you'll find us. Whenever a throng of unshaved ne'er-do-wells are chanting power ballads while running a drill, there we'll be. Whenever a horde of tie-dyed ragmuffins are sitting outside a bus terminal performing freestyle disc routines for loose change. Hello, nice to meet you, we're Papal Rage. We might not be the top seed or even the second-to-the-top seed in Boise, but our opponents are going to be pretty damn tired by the end of the game no matter what the outcome, I'll tell you that much. Hopefully, current captain Bobcat Walsh won't mind that this bio gives away the offensive strategy, but our longs have been trained to make three cuts even before the disc is checked in, and after a defender is worn down, all you'll see is the duct-taped number on the back of our camouflage jerseys as we cut deep for the huck. So, although we might not yet have received approval from the Vatican, we're pretty sure that the streets will flow with the blood of the non-believers.

UNC-Wilmington - Seaweed

UNC-W Seaweed is the team everybody loves to hate. After a season of obscurity last year the Seaweed have reemerged on the college national scene. It was very humbling not to make college nationals last year and that is why this Seaweed team is where it is today. We have a perfect blend of veterans and young talent. We are confident, hungry, and ready for nationals. We still believe and make no excuses for who we are. Our team represents every Seaweed who has ever played and win or lose we will do them, our families, friends, community, and school proud.

Two years ago, a new era of frisbee began in Davis.

Team Pleiades originated in the minds of two best friends, and was named by a starry-eyed aspiring farmer named Dani, voted most likely to be naked on our team. Other players there from the beginning of Anno Pleiades (in the year of our disc) include Sarah Hummalong - known for her web mastery, skirt sewing, and ability to sell discs, baked goods, and her soul to raise money for the team; Jenny "potato, SFS, tree trunk" Linder, who unknowingly works for travel_pleiades.com; and Korie Mielke, who enables us to arrive at tournaments in one piece and gave us a flashy name for our offense. Rounding out the crusty crew is noellemelamytamarakariosiesummERNic who helped make the first year great.

In the year 2 A.P., our mantra became #1 in '00, with the crusties back and huge recruiting efforts came up with a squad of 26 women hungry for the National title. Summer stopped smiling for two seconds and recruited her housemates Angela and Steph to come out and shred, while 3 freshman (aiyana, brookenkatja) were led astray into the realm of frisbee. On the graduate end of recruiting, we were lucky to obtain the biggest mumbler EVER Julie; Tami, Lisa and Nic, who sacrifice small animals to come practice, and Jenny, the med student that gets ho. Luckily, Noelle was deported from Thailand so that she could return to the disc jungle of Davis. And then there's Snaurel, who does the lazy dance to woo Vance and has no holster (hah hah), along with Alex and Sally who rage as deeps. Tamara kept at it this season, with the addition of a ball and chain around her ankle, and Amy stopped hobnobbing with the various Deans of Davis to flick a forehand or two.

All of these crazy women are so individual and diverse that forming such a tight and caring team has really made an impact on all of us. The Pleiades has really focused on the concept of TEAM this year, with the ringleader of fun patrol Rosie keeping us in line, and Shauna who comes up with the most amazing cheers, it's ridiculous! We're even into making mascots, with Liz expecting a mini-discer! With the addition of Coach Vance, as well as our Callahan nominee "cool hand Deleeuwk," we're psyched to earn the cheer, "Seven Sisters Circle the Sun! Pleiades is Number 1...in '00!"

Carleton College - Syzygy

What's Syzygy you might like to know

Three heavenly bodies all in a row

We've got the bodies

We've got the flow

So c'mon Syzygy let's go

We're gonna line those bodies up 1-2-3

We've got hucking O

We've got diving D

We're gonna launch that disc astronomically

So everyone knows we're Syzygy!

Spanning three decades College Nationals and Syzygy have been inseparable. And now in the twelfth year we continue to be hungry for The Game.

S-Y-Z-Y-G-Y go!

Remember when you used to wish aloud for a place where you could rollerskate, and move exactly as you felt like on roller skates, without being labelled or gawked at? We stumbled on such a place this summer in the park, sleek women spinning, swerving, double axeling to R. Kelly's "I believe I can fly."

We did not weed our garden on the Fourth, nor did we move into a Barrio in the East Village. We synthesized our jungle beats, we told our dogs to stay off the field, we wrote books for teachers about artists. Recently we reevaluated our mission statement. We like to play in whatever game we can get in. We like to pay via the barter system. We like to make up our own analogies. We build fires, pump gas, peel vegetables, and consider The Road an extension of the mind. We never get stuck in conversations we can't get out of. We know where the ban Boston comes from. We love Benjamin Moore paints and won't use another brand. Our stocks are in the growth sector. We survive by articulating ourselves. We believe Doogie Howser is smart. We like to learn more about you. We like Sweetwater IPA, modern architectural experiments, Boise, and freshly cut grass. We are a URL that is going to do for the Athens underground internet tarpon ultimate scene that Blaire Witch is doing to cinema. We are hot. We are sizzling. We are Will Smith and Buffy the Vampire Slayer sipping frappuccinos on Austin Powers shaggy yacht tethered to that dock on Dawson's Creek....We are multicultural. We are thriving and running for the New York State senator slot. We want a freaking piece of the action before, not after, it blows up. Expect $39 worth of salvation army handbags next nationals.

The Tufts Ewo are delighted to be making their first Nationals appearance since 1994. Many teams ask us what our name means in order to cheer us. The answer? Historically Ewo stood for Elephant-Women, but increasingly Ewo-lution has become much more appropriate.

In recent years Women's Ultimate at Tufts has morphed from loosely organized sport club with a propensity to party, to a highly driven team that strives to both play hard and hold on to every bit of its original spunk.

A unique mix of headstrong women, ranging from Backstreet Boy-loving Texans to environmentalist hippie children to Ohioan hip-hop goddesses, we are nonetheless completely united in pursuit of the disc. Our love for the game that is only paralleled by our love for each other.

However, in ultimate, as in life, variation is the key to adaptation and we will not hesitate to use our diversity to lay our opponents low. Selective pressure are strong at Nationals, and it is a widely accepted theory that Ewo-lution occurs most rapidly in precisely those conditions.

University of Colorado - Kali

Kali, the Eight Armed Hindu Goddess of Destruction was born in the foothills of the Rockies drinking blood for nourishment. Led by Captains Chelsea Boyle and Sara Fox, this team trains with early morning mountain runs, late night B.I. Jane viewings, and 3,000 throws per day.

Kali, while full of fire, brimstone, and destruction, also has gratitude for its awesome B-team, Shakti led by coach Jana Krutsinger and players Lizard Schmoel, Adra Miller, Rox Khorsand, Laura Zick and Michelle Staben. The B-team placed 4th in our Region ahead of several A-teams and ran us into the ground at practice all season. They are the highest ranked B-team in the country.

Kali comes to Boise fresh off beating rivals Santa Barbara and San Diego at Regionals placing first in the Southwest Region. After a long year marked by tremendous work, love, and commitment the Kali women are ready to take on the challenge and celebrate the joy of playing collegiate ultimate at the highest level. The Goddesses of Destruction is alive and well armed to grab at the national title

Psycoughtit is proud to be not only one of the most hard-working, successful, spirited teams in women's ultimate, but also, hands down, the team with the worst possible pun for a name. The psychos are proud to be making the trip to nationals for the second time in only 5 years of existence and even fewer years of grasping that a stack is more than just a pile of pancakes at Denny's and that you have to squeeze when you throw a forehand. We're proud of winning president's day, ultimax, and sectionals this year, and above all, playing harvard men in a wicked game of kickball. Revenge will be had. Our A team consists of 19 positive, supportive team-mates who aren't afraid to play "balls-out" even if we are girls. Favorite pre-season training practices include skinny dipping at Blacks Beach, playing "trash" on the beach with a bottle of wild rose wine in one hand and a disc in the other, and punishing turnovers at practice with a quick round of I've never. We have five players graduating this year - Meg Parker, who, as squid lite says, has layouts that make men feel unworthy, JP Lu, who only needs to be semi-conscious to burn anyone on the field, Karin Hagerman, who will lay out in three feet of water without hesitation, Diana Martinez who has consistent throws and a consistent desire to "maim," and Marisa Alvarado, who will smile and make friends with you while breaking your mark. We are at nationals not only representing ourselves, but also our amazing B team who consistently embarrasses us when we play them, squid lite - the team that brings new meaning to the concept of beer as so much more than a breakfast drink, and squid ice - who we all know deserves to be here.

Brown U. - Disco Inferno

In their third trip to nationals in the last four years, the Brown women are hungrier than ever. After an explosive last year bringing them to the semis of nationals, this year Disco has proven that they are indeed ultimate queens. An exciting fall season, which included two tournament victories (Purple Valley in MA and Classic City Classic in GA), was followed by an even more exciting spring season. Although snow and ice hindered Disco from shedding their winter layers for quite some time, spring break in sunny N. Carolina returned their spark. College Easterns proved that Brown would be a contender in the scramble for number one, where Disco went all the way to the finals in a hard fought match-up against UNC-W. Yale Cup reminded Brown that they do indeed live in the northeast, where Disco won the tournament playing through a freak April snowstorm. This has been Disco's strongest year ever. With such a young team, look for Brown to dominate not only this nationals but many more to come.

There once was a team from Eugene
Who liked to huck it up the seam.
They'll make you go deep and
Then come underneath
Because they got the style that's clean.

When the wind comes on strong,
And Sneetch puts the zone on,
You can forget about throwing long.
Let it be known
That with stars upon Thars,
Sneetch will go far.
Playing hard to get every score,
together we will soar!

Swarthmore - Warmothers

The Warmothers are ecstatic to return to Nationals this year in a new, incredibly more convenient locale. Despite the loss of ten seniors after the 1999 season, they have come back stronger than ever under the leadership of Jenny Hoedeman '01 (ask to see her Cartman impression) and Lindsay Goldsmith '01 (ask to see her hammer). The Warmoms are proud to have the most wins in the Spring 2000 season (42), the most forfeits due to April blizzards (1), the most pages for academic papers yet to be written by the captains after winning regionals (115) and a good number of broken noses as well (2). Though they don't have a coach, the Warmothers have numerous hangers-on (mostly of the Earthworm variety) who will be warming up the sideline for them in Boise. Eat the babies!

University of Illinois - Disc-Go Bananas

There once was a team from Urbana
They called themselves Disc-Go Bananas.
The word's on the street,
They won't take defeat...

And have brought you DEEP THOUGHTS from Chambana:

"Happiness is showing the disc." Heidi "Chunks" Ott; "Riding in the car is fun when you're drunk, until someone pukes in your hair." Gina "Jie-Scream" Lavarda; "Gratuitous falling always helps." Katie "The Klutz" Hebda; "Who said ghetto bootys have to be from the ghetto?" Christin "Pampers" Quarry; "Frisbee is a non-contact sport, until someone grabs your crotch." Emily "SnotRocket" Cyr; Housepets are nice and furry and cute, until one day, they become the size of a small elephant." Stacy "Depends" Fifer; "Frisbee is a challenging sport, especially when your own team is facing the wrong way." Debbie "Go Go Gadget" Wagner; "Blue Gatorade is really good for you, as long as it's not antifreeze." Marita "Cheetarah" Espinosa; "I think God's punishing me for saying the word 'crotch' so much." Heather "CrotchPain" Sattler; An empty beer mug is a SAD beer mug." Lorra "The Lush" Gillan; "Ultimate parties are a great place to meet people...That's where I met Jack...Daniels that is...Unfortunately, it didn't work out." Lindsey "The Lightweight" Sultan; "Some people use Jock James to pump themselves up, but I prefer Nursery Rhymes." Kendra "Ensure" Sharp; "One time, in San Francisco, we went up this really big hill, and then we went down it, and it was scary." Sara "I'm Serious" Hartweck; "Sarcasm is a person's best defense." Susan "The Nose-Picker Devil" Charbausk; "Every superhero has their weakness...Feet are my Kryptonite." Tracy "What?????" Kessner; "My name is Anjali 'Papa Smurf' Thawani...You have travelled...PREPARE TO DIE." Anjali "Papa Smurf" Thawani; "Cheering for the men's team is hard, especially when no one lets you say anything." Aide "Ho" Uzgir; "Playing barefoot makes me look taller." Bill "COACH" Branson; And we leave you with the immortal words of LION-O..."THUNDERCATS, HO!!!!!"

Bucknell University - Peace Frogs

Just a year and a half ago, the Bucknell Peace Frogs lost every game we played with hopes of scoring at least once per half. When we did manage to score a point we cheered as though we had won a spot to Nationals! Needless to say, the future looked grim. Fortunately, the team had awesome spirit and a love of the game that kept them playing every day. The Spring '99 season saw the Peace Frogs qualifying for Regionals for the first time ever. This year the Frogs managed to step it up and qualify for Nationals. However, one of our greatest achievements is setting a record at the Rochester Halloween Tournament of winning the costume award three years straight. The Frogs always make partying a priority and have consistently been a contender (a force to be reckoned with, if you will) for winning any party we attend. We cannot take all the credit for our accomplishments because we would be nothing without our daddy, Daryl, his bottle of Superflow, and his happy sperm. Daryl is a constant presence on our sideline riding "the frog." This may sound unusual, but with players such as Numb Nuts, PDA, PMS, Revballs, and Perma-perv, the usual is not to be expected. Though the Frogs may not win the National Championship, we certainly will not go unnoticed! Ribbit Up!

We're proud to be competing at Nationals for the second year running. We are especially pleased to be sporting a few subs this time! Thank you to all those who have supported us in our journey to Nationals. Just look for us in our tattered shirts and crazy skirts and you'll see Ultimate played straight from the heart. LET'S GO TLO!!! To all of the outstanding teams here in Boise: Good Luck, may your feet be swift and your hucks be long.

Smith College - Lunadisc

0 - Number of women's colleges to send a team to nationals; 1 - Number after this year; 2 - Number of pick-ups we got at the Brown tourney we won last fall; 2.2 - Average # of children per family in the US; 3 - Number of Lunadisc players who started playing BEFORE this year; 4 - Number of parties Smith has won in the past 2 years; 5 - Number of players we had when we went to the Brown tourney last fall; 5.2 - Shelf life (in years) of an average latex condom; 6 - Number of years that Lunadisc has been around; 6.99 - Shelf life (in years) of a twinkie; 7 - Number of players we have at most tourneys; 7.52 - % of Smith students who still claim to like men; 8 - Number of men's teams that we like to call our men's team; 9 - Number of men's teams that would like to call us their women's team (sorry Amherst); 10 - Number of players we're hoping to have at Nationals; 10.1 - Average length (in inches) of an erect penis according to men (4 inches according to women); 17 - % of US women who have been sexually intimate with another woman; 47 - Official number of Swag-Dude-Disc ultimate; 55 - Number of times a team has cheered us with a song about the moon; 1893 - Year of first women's collegiate basketball game - played at Smith College, earning Smith the nickname Pioneers; 2000 - Smith College Lunadisc's first Nationals!

Lets see - where do we start? How about with 26.2, the number of miles Erin runs on a regular basis. Then there's 144 a.k.a. twelve squared which is Kate's gross obsession ever since 7th grade. Judy is G. which just happens to be the epicenter of all her power. Lucky number 13 is the beginning of your problems with Elisabeth. AJ claims infinity - which is both her endurance on the field and other selected activities. Catherine goes for @ 'cause she's where it's at, wherever that is it's up to you to find out. Casey's sticking to 4:20 which is a biblical verse I'm pretty sure? Anna's special friend is ! - you'll be pretty damn excited by her. Charlotte gets zero, which is about the amount of shit she takes (yes, thats directed at you). Jenny and 811 go together - sometimes you just have a favorite prime number - right? Em the Regulator takes U, the well-known (?) symbol for potential energy - thats right - nipple rings are just the tip of the iceberg. Alice can be identified by c - which in expanded form is the speed of light just in case you aren't as up on your physical constants as us Rice geeks. E.Z. is 5.26 - her mile time on a bad day. Rookie Jamie is 24 which only under the most unpleasant interrogation did she reveal to be the number of guys she's...Wait - so how many guys on the guys' team? And last but not least Miss Julia wears the scarlet 3 which means nothing at all as far as I'm concerned.

It started slowly, the phenomenon that is WOMB. Wandering the quads of our Lady's University, the rainbow catching, cartwheeling types had little to do at the school of J. Crew...and so it was proposed that they meet and produce something. WOMB Ultimate was born. Contrary to popular belief, WOMB does not stand for anything. (although suggestions like "women outdo men, baby," or "Wellman outruns most boys" have been suggested). The cub lead by the old was infiltrated by the young and all are now powered by the breakfast of champions: ibuprofen, Nutella, bagels and beef. When not practicing in tornado winds and 5 feet of snow, the women of WOMB enjoy hucking discs over the Golden Dome, doing layout drills off of two story buildings, and crushing beer cans on their heads. In order to raise funds for nationals, they helped security move double parked cars by lifting them up and carrying them off campus. The project was a success and now the girls of WOMB are here to make their first appearance at Nationals. Lead by captains C-lu and Gravy, WOMB is ready to play. Idaho is the Gem State and surely, WOMB will be having a gem of a time at Nationals 2000.

2000 Callahan Award and College Nationals

Charles Kerr, Callahan Award Coordinator

This year's college National Tournament in Boise, ID includes many of the top contenders for the Callahan Award for college most valuable player. The winner of the Callahan Award is announced the Saturday night before the finals at Nationals, but as this tournament guide went to press, candidates for the award had already been selected. This year's award has 50 candidates in for the open division and 25 for the women's.

Many of the top teams that have qualified for Nationals also have the top players.

Open

If this year's award for the Callahan Award in the Open division (as the men's division is called in ultimate's hyper-PC terminology) has a favorite candidate, it would probably be Justin Safdie (#22) of Brown University. Justin in teammate of Fortunat Mueller (#8), last year's run away winner of the Callahan Award and in addition to both playing on the Brown University team, both also play the Boston club team Death Or Glory - the 1999 National Club Champions. Justin is an all around offensive and defensive standout, but his excellence as a deep receiver makes him Mueller's favorite target.

The University of Colorado may have the country's deepest, most athletic roster, giving them plenty of potential candidates for the Callahan. This year Colorado selected Nate Miller. Miller's tremendous quickness and fearless intensity make him one of college ultimate's premiere defensive players.

Stanford ultimate has the distinction of having the most Callahan winners since the award's inception, and this year's nomination for the men is Scott Johnson (#00). At 6'3, Scott's height combined with excellent hops and near perfect timing makes him a feared deep threat. And his good-natured spirit makes him an ideal Callahan candidate.

Tim Murray (#4) is both the captain and heart of MagnUM the University of Michigan's ultimate team. Rail thin, Magnum's offense revolves around Tim's first rate throwing ability.

Last year's champions, NC State, enters the tournament as the number nine seed, but includes Chris Hinkle (#17), arguably college ultimate's best offensive player. A fiery competitor, Hinkle's short cuts are virtually uncoverable and State's offense revolves around his pinpoint passing.

Other candidates at Nationals that will be playing in the open division include: Matt Bruss of the University of Wisconsin, Seth Mann of Tufts University and Mike Shiel of Notre Dame.

Women's Division

Of the 25 women nominated for the Callahan, almost half are here at College Nationals. And aside from Angela Lin (Georgia Tech) and Camille Yu (Stanford) all the major candidates are here, giving spectators an opportunity to survey the field firsthand.

Unlike the men's division, this year's race has no clear cut favorite, but leading candidates include:

Kari DeLeeuw plays for Pleiades, the number two seeded team from UC Davis. She was nominated last year for the Callahan as well and this is her 5th year playing ultimate after running cross country and track (along with basketball) in high school.

Tufts University's candidate is super star player Johanna Neumann (#13). Johanna was also nominated for the award last year and she, along with Whitney Kakas (#15) of Brown University, are generally considered to be the two best women players from the Northeast.

For the last several years Sarah Hagen has been the heart of the University of Minnesota women's team, Tacky Lawn Ornaments. Sarah is expected to finish in the top 5 of this year's Callahan voting.

Terri Murphy (#23) plays for the up and coming team Kali from the University of Colorado. Teri is starting her third year of playing ultimate after playing volleyball and basketball.

In addition to UC Davis, a number of strong teams and candidates hail from the West Coast, including Corrine Ginsberg of UC San Diego and Robin Loek Birdsong of the University of Oregon. Last year, Robin's teammate on the Star Bellied Sneetches, Jody Dozono, won the Callahan Award before finishing her master's degree at Oregon. In '97 and '98 the Stanford University's women's team had back to back Callahan Award winners, so having consecutive winners from the same team isn't without precedent.

Other candidate's in the women's division include Katherine Kidd from the University of Georgia, Jessi Witt of Smith College, Lindsay Thompson, Swathmore College and Jenny Dale of Rice University.

The Callahan Award is sponsored by the Ultimate Players Association, Discraft, and Eurosport. To learn more about the award, contact the Callahan web site at: www.callahan-mvp.com

General Information

Volunteer staff are wearing yellow shirts - please don't hesitate to ask for help. Observers and linespeople are wearing orange shirts.

Medical Information

Tournament staff at headquarters must be notified immediately in case of a medical emergency. Field marshals are stationed between fields and have radios to contact headquarters and the medical staff will also monitor the radios. For a minor injury and sports medicine treatment, the Healthsouth trailer will have staff on-site throughout the tournament.

Massage

Massage therapists from the Wellspring School of Massage will be on site during the tournament. Tipping is encouraged as they are volunteers and are working free of charge.

Bagels, Fruit, and Water

Bagels, fruit, and water will be provided for the Players. Bagels and fruit must be picked up at headquarters. A 5 gallon water container will be placed at each field and kept filled. Players may fill water bottles from these containers. Please notify the field marshal if your field container is empty.

Friday Pizza Dinner

On Friday night, May 26, a dinner will be held for players at headquarters at Simplot Complex sponsored by Idaho Pizza Company. We plan to start serving around 5:30 p.m.

Saturday Hewlett Packard Celebration

The Hewlett Packard Celebration will be at the host hotel, Doubletree Riverside, in the ballroom. This event will include an awards ceremony, an opportunity to meet a few Hewlett Packard representatives and a great band, Soul Purpose. Plan to attend on Saturday night, May 27, from 8:00 pm until 1:00 am.
