Welcome to the Tourney

Congratulations to all the teams that qualified for the 2004 UPA College Ultimate Championship tournament! Your months of training, practicing, dreaming, and hard work have paid off. Only two teams will take home the title of National Champion, but all those who play here have already earned our admiration and respect.

Over the three days of this tournament, DiscNW, your local host, will be working hard to make this the best College Nationals ever—to make this a tournament for the player. Feel free to seek us out at Frisbee Central if there is anything we can do to make your experience better.

A tournament of this magnitude is the result of dozens of volunteers putting in countless hours of work. A few go above and beyond the call of duty and deserve special mention: Ryan Seguire, Toni Burkholder, William "Bunny" Bartram, Eric Kehoe, and the Tournament Director, Ray Birks. If you see them, or any other volunteer, be sure to give them a quick thank you and high five. Additional thanks go to the folks at UPA HQ, whose experience and guidance maintains the quality of this tournament year after year.

Play with Spirit, play hard, and good luck.

Competition Rules

- All games to 15, win by two, cap at 17.
- Half-time is 10 minutes.
- Each team has two timeouts per half.
- Regardless of how many timeouts a team has used before overtime, during overtime each team has one timeout.
- Overtime: A game is in overtime if tied at one point less than original game total, and the winning score will exceed said game total. (e.g. In a game to 15 goals, overtime occurs when the score reaches 14-14 and the minimum winning score is determined to be 16.)
- Time-cap goes on at end of round time on schedule. Add two points to higher score after first score after time-cap. Play to that total. No more win by two.
- The time-cap does not affect timeouts.

Team History: After a quarterfinal exit at Nationals last spring, Brown is hungry to jump back into the top echelon of college Ultimate this spring in Seattle. Graduating only three seniors, the 2004 team is a tight bunch of guys, and it has shown on the field this year. The season was highlighted by strong performances at Stanford Invite, Yale Cup and the Regional Championships. Brown asserted its dominance over the Northeast in the latter two tournaments, going undefeated and taking the top bid out of a traditionally strong region. This year's team is older and more experienced than last year's nationals squad, a fact that Brown hopes to utilize on its way to a strong showing in Seattle.

Team History: Carleton's White Lotus Clan has awoken from their meditative trance and our dojo is tip top. After much preparation our Shaolin style has become most proficient: our Hanzo hands of steel technique is so keen that none can withstand the cut. Beware of the Donkey Punch. It doesn't matter if you're three feet away or three inches. You won't miss it. We've combined the Tao with bushido. We are nature's katanatanda, and with your muffin in a tight spot you can bet our flow will be ice cold. So when Nationals time rolls around in seatown, remember to hold fast: we're bringing the badunk-a-dunk dunk home. You're coming to play in our house, and we wrote the rules.

GEORGE WASHINGTON

Team Name: Hippos

City/State: Washington, DC

- 17-Joe Pollak, JR, 5'10"
- 20-Aaron Ferrecchia, JR, 5'11"
- 21-Andrew Saltz, JR, 5'8"
- 22-Matt Kurianski, JR, 6'1"
- 25-Chris Mendoza, SR, 5'8"
- 26-Spencer Strauss, SR, 6'1"
- 27-Ben Detofsky, FR, 5'8"
- 30-Jack Gaynor, SO, 6'5"
- 34-Tim Naylor, JR, 5'9"
- 47-Simon Murtha-Smith, FR, 6'1"

Team History: In its seventh season, G-Dub Ultimate has transitioned from a fledgling team into a thriving athletic program. Making their second trip to Nationals in three years, the Hippos have become a spirited institution not only on campus, but around the college Ultimate community as well. This season, the Hippos traveled to Queen's City Tune Up (Charlotte, NC), President's Day (San Diego, CA), College Terminus (Atlanta, GA), College Easterns (Wilmington, NC), and Chesapeake Invite (College Park, MD) before heading into the UPA Series. Posting a record of 24-6 since March 13, the Hippos are stronger than ever and hoping to build off a second place finish at Metro East Regionals. George Washington eagerly awaits the opportunity to prove themselves among the best in Seattle.

Traveling to their 5th College Nationals in the past seven years, the NC State Wolfpack are in Seattle looking for their second national title. A talented and seasoned team is hoping that experience will make the difference this year, with 13 seniors looking to improve on last year's finish.

Team History: For the past two decades, the Stanford Men's Ultimate Team has been one of the most dominant college programs in the country, winning the National Championship most recently in 2002. Coming off a strong regular season performance, with a first-place finish at the Stanford Invite and semifinal finishes at Santa Barbara and Centex, this year's team looks to make another run deep into Nationals. Over the past few years, Bloodthirsty has earned the nickname 'The Faceless Army' from its competition due to the team's unusual depth. This year is proving to be no different. From the elder statesmen to the baby-faced rookies, every member of this team is dangerous, and come Nationals, Bloodthirsty is a team no one wants to face. This year's team is coached by Dan Maidenberger, a five-year Stanford vet and dedicated member of the program. The team would like to thank him for his commitment and wisdom.

Team History: The UC Berkeley men's team has been called "Ugmo" for three years. Several things have been constant throughout—the leadership of captain Dan Hodges and coach John Shelton, the strength and intensity of the team's defense, and its penchant for spectacular plays on both sides of the disc.

Following a 4th place finish at Regionals in 2002, Ugmo was one of the best teams in the country for the first three months of its 2003 season, but a mystifying fade in April and May left them hungry for the next season.

The addition of longtime Stanford star Bart Watson, using his fifth year of eligibility as a grad student, added some valuable experience and talent to an already-stacked team. Starting with a win at Santa Barbara and hungry from losing close games at San Diego and the Stanford Invite, Cal capped off its preseason with a win at Centex, one of the strongest tournaments in the country. Returning home after a forgettable performance at Collegiates, Ugmo rolled on through Sectionals and Regionals, earning themselves the top seed at Nationals.

The roster includes a UPA high school champion (Hodges), a UPA college champion (Watson), and a UPA club champion (Gabe Saunkeah, with Furious). But the team isn't overly reliant on these three—the supporting cast is experienced and deep. With half the team playing in their last college tournament, the stage is set for a fantastic finish to a fantastic season. Ugmo—you know.

rs & Team Histories

Team History: Thought to be only one hit wonders whose time had passed, the Air Squids went soul searching and instead of selling out and becoming all about the money, they decided to be all about the music. The Squids once broke up because of too many lead singers and creative differences, but after spending a week apart, they realized they couldn't survive in the real world without each other so they got the band back together and promised that they would set aside their differences for the greater good rock and roll.

Working together they formed a cohesive group in which nothing could come between them. There were times when the bonds between the Air Squids were tested, but the Squids held strong and proved that they could do it all again.

Featuring the smash radio single "It Was Wet When We Got There," the Air Squids' latest album highlights the maturity of a group that could only be a result of dealing with the harsh reality of a thousand years of blood, sweat and tears of a generation of young squids whose seasons ended before their time.

After the addition of a new bassist, and a new manager, Turtle, the band released its latest album, "Everything's cool dude," inspired by a shower experience gone terribly wrong. Their new album should hit stores right around May 28th. Release party is in Seattle.

Team History: During the 2003 spring season, Delaware Sideshow achieved great success by winning the Colonial Section Cup for the first time ever. At Metro East Regionals, they were eliminated by Penn State and George Washington (the very two teams who would end up battling for a bid to Nationals in the game to go). The team began discussing their goals for next season, and the primary objective was clear: to earn a bid to the UPA College National Championships.

The 2003 fall season for Sideshow proved to be a valuable learning experience. Early losses revealed some of the weaker aspects of Sideshow's play. The Wolfpack Invitational at N.C. State gave Delaware the opportunity to play against some good teams outside their region, while two later tournaments provided them with a look at some of their Metro East competition.

Open Division Roster

The spring season started with a boom, with Sideshow taking first place at Leap Year Celebration. At Huck O' the Irish, Delaware suffered a decisive loss to N.C. State. Sideshow learned some important lessons from the game, and demonstrated this fact a few weeks later at Ullimax, where they played two strong games against N.C. State and Virginia. Sideshow repeated their victory as Colonial Section Champions, and earned the #1 seed at Metro East Regionals. They rolled through their first three games at Regionals and won a hard-fought game against Queens-Kingston for the Metro East Championship, making them the first ever Delaware Men's Ultimate team to earn a trip to the UPA College Nationals Championships.

Team History: The University of Illinois Ultimate team made their first appearance at College Nationals in 2002. After earning the Great Lakes its first strength bid and finishing tied for 9th that year, Illinois hoped to prove that their first trip was not a fluke. After a dominating 2003 season and three bids in the Great Lakes region, a repeat trip was almost a lock. This was secured with a victory over MSU in the backdoor finals of the 2003 GL Regionals. After a tough loss in the 2003 Nationals quarterfinals, the forecast didn't look good for the Illini, who were losing half their starting rotation for 2004. However, hard work and dedication have once again paid off. As the second seed out of the GL region, Illinois will be arriving at Nationals in the fashion they play best, as an underdog with something to prove. Fortunately, the large number of graduating seniors did not include their two biggest playmakers and captains Bill Finn (6) and Nick McDuffee (20), the heart and soul of the team. Other great returners include Matt Welsh (84), Sam Jennings (31), Eric Richardson (55), and preseason acquisition Matt Stupca (24). Up and coming rookies include defensive star Joel Koehneman (3), and Pat Stephens (12). Illinois also boasts a unique twin brother duo, 5' 8" Mike Clarke (2), and 6' 4" Matt Clarke (11) who are the shortest and tallest players on the team.

Team History: You ever get that feeling that you're always just that close to greatness, but it slips away? I do. Like at practice, when I see the girl I'm totally crushing on walking past us in the park, and I bust deep and lay out for the score so she can see me and think, "Nice bid, I think I'll give him my phone number." But I miss the disc by just that much, and I know she's not impressed, so I join a Megadeth cover band, and when I'm up on stage singing '99 Ways to Die I'm looking right at her, but she covers her ears and walks out the door. So then what? I've done everything I can. Or have I? We're 3-10 this year versus teams that qualified for Nationals. Only way to turn that around is to bust our humps and keep running and throwing and knowing we'll progress just that much in the weeks leading up to this holiest of tournaments. And it will happen. We owe NC State a good game and it was fun to scare the daylight out of Colorado and Stanford, and we want our $1000 back from Wisconsin. We're that close, and it's time to take the next step; if you-know-who strolls by, I'm catching that disc on a sick layout and making out with her in the end zone. Bam, it's 12-12 and we're about to make our run at you. Superpowers beware: IHUC is that team.

Team History: The Zontals have been around for more than 24 years now. Next year will mark the 25th anniversary of the often wet and never dry Fools Fest tournament in Lawrence, KS hosted by yours truly and the Bettys. We have always strived for excellence on the field while promoting community off the field, and this year is no exception.

With a squad consisting of half our B team from last year, great strides have been made this season in order for us to return to Nationals for the first time in five years. A season that many times could have gotten mired in injuries has turned into a glorious accomplishment. The guys on this team do not quit, and it is evidenced in our work ethic. We are lucky to be playing such a great game, and everyone on this team knows it. So let's make the most of our opportunities here in Washington and put on a show for those in attendance.

We would like to give thanks to all the Zontals and Bettys that came before us, who continually laid the groundwork for our success.

The Zontal Nation marches on Seattle!

Team History: Princess Layout is making its first appearance at Nationals. Begun in 1994 with nothing more than a cool name and a dream of world domination, Princess has suddenly become a force to be reckoned with, winning the ENE Section, and finishing second at Yale Cup and NE Regionals. What is different about this year? Did a sponsorship from Joseph Farms Cheese give us the protein we so badly needed? Was our cheer for WHUFO's mom so raunchy that it tore the fabric of the universe? Did we forget not to chase our drinks with whiskey? Whatever it may be, Princess is savoring the taste of a Nationals bid the way we savor bananas after a tough game.

This spring's journey to Nationals started at the Stanford Invite, where lush grass and warm sun inspired us to condition and practice through the subzero New Hampshire winter. We toughened ourselves with mandatory Astroturf layout practice, naked dogsled racing, and facility scheduler Jedi mind tricks. After a slow start at Southern and Easterns, Princess' offense, defense, and team unity finally clicked. Led by stellar handling and backed up by a tenacious zone and man defense, we ironed out our early mistakes and took New England by storm. Despite our intense play, we've never forgotten how much fun Ultimate is; Princess Layout looks forward to showing the best teams in the nation the spirit and skill that got us to Seattle.

The force? It's with us. Bananas? Go. Cheese? We like.

WE ARE PSYCHOTIC.

Team History: Over the past several years, team effort, focus, and intensity has propelled sMITe, the MIT Women's Ultimate team, to the top tier of women's college Ultimate. In 2002, we finished third at the UPA College Nationals, with a scant squad of only 13. We improved last year by finishing second, losing only to Stanford 13-15 in a grueling finals game. With few losses from last year's roster, remarkable improvement of the returning players, a crop of enthusiastic new players, and an experienced coaching staff at the helm, we are more determined than ever to push our limits in the national arena.

Despite the major progress our team has made over the past several years in our offensive game, we pride ourselves on our defensive intensity. We don't rely on individuals making huge Ds or point blocks (although they are always fun), but work as a whole team to shut down every option for our opponents. Look for the biggest smiles on our faces when the mark shouts "stall ten!" and we turn it around for a quick point.

Team History: Bad names. Playing savage. Losing games. This is the history of NC State women's Ultimate. Now, ten years, one wild night, one Tribe, and one amazing season of recruitment later, we have a new name, rookies that outnumber the veterans and dominate any other team, a growing reputation on and off the field, and our first appearance ever at College Nationals. Jägermeister is master of the hunt. Jäga Monsta is master of the disc. We will make that catch. We will layout for that D. We will follow the destiny instilled by our name and hunt for the best in ourselves. Jäga

From a team that has never in its history placed higher than 5th at Regionals, to a powerhouse in the AC Region, we are on our way to show the nation what we've got!

Team History: Penn State ISIS has had a fun and exciting year. Despite losing a lot of experience and leadership, the team rebounded with a strong rookie class this fall. The rookies, affectionately called "The Next Generation," picked up fast from returning players Karen Schulte (captain), Sarah Lahm (captain), Kim Breese, Erin Crider, Melanie Holton, and Beth Gifford.

The team traveled around the country this spring including a Spring Break trip to California for hot Ultimate at the Stanford Invite and vacation time along the rocky coast of California and among the giant sequoias of Yosemite National Park. The team is led by their coach Nicole Cook, who teaches them how to throw an awe-inspiring huck, get a big layout D, appreciate fine wine, and go bird watching.

Team History: Shakti is excited to make its first Nationals appearance since 1998. We have been working hard for the last four years to rebuild our team. Although we have only 11 players, our team has been dedicated and committed to our goal of earning this trip to Seattle.

This spring we traveled up and down I-95 many times in search of Ultimate in warmer weather, and we found it at Queen City, Terminus, Southern, and Salisbury's Leap Year. By competing at better tournaments and facing better competition, we have been able to improve our level of play.

A special thanks to Stacy and James for not only raising the bar on our quality of food, but also teaching us to play better, smarter Ultimate. We're looking forward to the competition in Seattle.

94-Anna Hare, SR, 5'6"

Team History: Superfly comes to Seattle with some of the best STUFF ever (DS!), ready for some more SHK's.

What to expect from Fly '04: Captains Rosie, Lyndsay, and Milch, all powerhouse players you won't want to try to guard. Supra-captain Jenny Burney, bringing a shocking work ethic and a heart so big it don't need foot-bones. Robin and Peeps, coaching us to victory with their pitiless strategizing and an unparalleled love of the sport.

Ridiculous plays from every single member of our 19-mile deep team: Enessa, stirring the pot o' love and pushing herself (and your poor zone offense) to the limit. Casey, highest offensive completion percentage on the team and most effective lay-out poacher. Hannah, getting into your star player's dome with the toughest defense on our team.

Second-year players stepping up and owning new roles: Crystal's lovely throws a force for our offence, Mary Lyn's make-it-look-easy run-through D's, Ruthie's sheer guts yielding bomber layouts, Jess Guh's speed and grit firing up the whole team, Alicia taking over the "she's the longest!" distinction from a former Fly, Caitlin's chilly mark and prescient continues.

And what team could have more dynamic rookies? Christina's cute giggle and terrifying trap, Berk getting UP for hot D's in the cup, Anna Hare's broken-finger grabs and push passes, the Fong's crazy breaks and perfectly placed puts, Kaily's shapely calves pushing her through the air for those flyingswimmingskying D's, Jen Lau trilling all the way through veteran-caliber handling skillz.

Seriously, though, DTFU. This is NAFF.

Team History: One of our cheers this year sums up our team as a collection of diverse individuals all united in the same athletic adventure. It sings:

"We are called the Berkeley Pie Queens.

We go to school at UCB.

We study people, plants, paint, the earth, numbers and chemistry.

We dance like nobody is watching; we squat 'til our quads burn.

And when we don our flair, we put the disc in air, cause we're an Ultimate team!"

Indeed, we are the 20 gals plus one amazing coach from Berkeley, California, who have come from all disciplines of study and various years of academic dedication who bond in our love of Ultimate. For seven of our players, this will be their first Regionals and Nationals. For eight of us, it will be the last chance to go for the gold. How have the Pie Queens come this far? The athleticism and heart of our rookies have added fresh spirit and strength to the program, while they join and learn from one of the most talented pools of third, fourth and fifth-year players, who have established the high level of commitment and skill of the Berkeley Pie Queens. This year the Queens have appeared in three tournament finals: San Diego Prez Day Tourney, the nationally competitive (College Only) Centex in Austin, Texas, and the Santa Barbara Classic, which was our sole championship win. This season's been a wild ride, and we are ecstatic to be a part of the Nationals crowd again! We'd like to give a shout out to Jock Jams, Journey, Phat Beats, Surfside, the makers of Boxer Briefs and Hanes Her Way, your mom, and remind you: Some people think we are a Fun Team; but the Fun is over. "...We're gonna scar and pillage the land, just like El Nino. We'll rock this city, 'cause it's good to be a Queen, yoi!"

Team History: The Pleiades are the really, really, ridiculously good looking seven sisters of Ultimate. We decided that the seven sisters must be at least... three times this big to win Nationals, so we've come with a team of 21 stars. Our roster is deep, athletic and very very evil. In our journey to Nationals, we've practiced long and hard, breakdance-fighting, training our lazy-eyes to focus on the frisbee, and consuming massive quantities of In-n-out burgers. Along the way, we've perfected our many looks to intimidate our opponents: blue steel, magnum, the high ponytail.... Eliminating pink (or really any color but blue) from our team in an effort to make ourselves tougher and stronger, we come to Seattle having rid ourselves of the black lung and ready to dominate at the Center for Kids Who Can't Read Good but Want to Learn to Play Frisbee Good too. We've honed our auditory-visual skills in anticipation of the big event and are ready to listen for up calls and smack down the D. Audi whaty? We are so excited to have made it out of our region and our god-forsaken cow pasture to show the nation that while our chiseled good looks, rock hard abs, and chicken legs are intimidating, we also play a damn good game of Ultimate! We welcome the challenge that awaits and wish everyone the best of luck!

Team History: UCSD Psycho has combined hard work and dedication this year in our quest to once again be national champions in 2004. We are comprised of both old and new with a winning combination of senior wisdom and rookie enthusiasm and energy. The Psycho's have a history of having fun and playing hard, with crazy layouts, big D's and huge hucks. Our season has gone well, winning our own President's Day tournament, as well as sweeping both Sectionals and Regionals to enter Nationals as the top team in our region.

Team History: This year marks Id's triumphant return to Nationals since its last appearance in 2001. We started off the year with two fearless new coaches and high hopes for the season. Late night practices and grueling workouts shaped us into what you see today - a fierce team that lays it all out on the field. The women of Id are intense players who are dedicated, good-spirited, and fun-loving. Our team can be recognized from afar by our "Big Tight" cheer that successfully starts off our games and vocal sidelines that engage everyone both on and off the field. Id's team depth has also improved tremendously over the season as veterans and rookies alike stepped up their games to build a well-rounded and cohesive group. Over this past year, as a diverse group, we have learned to work well together both on and off the field to achieve our unified goal of representing the Great Lakes at Nationals. We are proud to have been able to realize this dream with the help of our many indispensable veterans, whom we will always love and miss. Id is also looking forward to the progress of our younger members, who have already stepped up their games many times before, throughout the coming years. We are proud to have the chance to demonstrate our skills as a team this year at Nationals and look forward to the challenges.

Team History: This year, University of Iowa's Saucy Nancy is making its second appearance at Nationals, hoping to improve on last year's tenth-place finish. Having lost a number of key players, Saucy returns with a slimmer yet sleeker roster (with only twelve players at Regionals, Saucy was outnumbered two-to-one by rivals Carleton and Madison). What Saucy lacks in numbers, it makes up for in heart and talent! This year Saucy competed at Mardi Gras, Centex, and Collegiates, with a season record of 24 wins and 8 losses. The team boasts twelve veterans and two rookies, including the fastest woman in college Ultimate (as determined at the fastest woman race at Centex). Saucy Nancy was founded in 1993, but has only risen to prominence in the Central region in the last four years. We are a fun-loving team that works hard to challenge and make champions out of one another. We look forward to testing ourselves against other elite college teams at Nationals 2004!

Team History: A few significant things have changed over the course of Méléé's four and a half year history: a name change (from the old school "Lady Marmalade"), new and improved jerseys, and our coaches (our new amazing coaches John "Kid" Hammond and Martha "Mak" Keltner), just to name a few. But most things haven't changed; Méléé still doesn't have cuts, we still have the same core group of women that started the team four years ago (along with the amazing recruits from subsequent years), we still travel far and wide to seek the best competition in the nation, and we still love each other and the game above all else.

Wrapping up our best season yet, the 2004 season is the end of the beginning with the loss of our last founding players, but it's only the beginning of one of the strongest college women's programs to come out of the South.

Team History: Last year at the AC Regionals, Duke crushed our hopes and dreams of greatness (and William and Mary made sure they stayed crushed.) We were devastated and confused, unsure of the reasons behind our loss. What had we done wrong? Then, in October, a wise veteran player revealed unto us the secret to winning. "Once you get two points in a row, you can't give two points back." Of course! It was so simple, no wonder we hadn't thought of it before. From then on, scoring more points than our opponents became the foundation for our new winning strategies. The secret was ours! We would not lose again.

Whether that truly is the secret to our success or not, we've had an amazing season. Having never won a major tournament prior to this spring, AO now has a string of first place finishes under their belt, including Queen City Tune Up, College Terminus, College Easterns, and of course the Atlantic Coast Regionals. We're undefeated going into Nationals with wins over Penn State, Rutgers, NC State, Dartmouth, and Illinois. We are so happy to finally be playing in a tournament outside of our own region. Not that there's anything wrong with our region. Go Atlantic Coast!

The Callahan Award was established in 1996 by Charles Kerr to recognize the most valuable players in college Ultimate. Each year a trophy is presented to the top player in the men's and women's division who, in the eyes of his or her peers, combines superior athleticism with outstanding sportsmanship, leadership and

UPA SPIRIT AWARDS

TEAM AWARDS: Following every game, each team will be asked to rate its opponent on a scale of 1-5, with 5 being the highest level of sportsmanship. These ratings will be averaged, and the team in each division with the highest rating will be awarded the Team Spirit Award after their division's final.

INDIVIDUAL AWARDS: Teams will each be asked to nominate a player from their own team who they feel displays the highest level of spirit. The "Ultimate has traditionally relied upon a spirit of sportsmanship which places the responsibility for fair play on the player himself. Highly competitive play is encouraged, but never at the expense of the bond of mutual respect between players, adherence to the agreed-upon rules of the game, or the basic joy of play."

definition of spirit is up to each team, but should include elements of sportsmanship, leadership, perseverance, fire, etc. Choose the person whose attitude you wish other people on your team would emulate and who other players off your team admire. Individual spirit winners will receive a medal and a light-up disc (courtesy of FlashFlight). Thanks to FlashFlight for its support of Ultimate and Spirit of the Game.
