Welcome to the first-ever UPA Coed Division Championships!

Ultimate gains a nationals division specifically for mixed-gender play...

How many team sports allow men and women to compete together at the highest level of athleticism? Basketball? Nope. Height's too important. Football or Rugby? No way- brawn wins. Soccer, Handball, Lacrosse or Field Hockey? Perhaps top level coed could work there. But is it? Do the majority of players in those sports around the world play gendered or coed?

So what is it about Ultimate? What makes our sport better suited for coed play than any other team field or court sport? Is it the way we use space? The lack of goal or basket? Or does it have to do with the tool we use - dependent on science for much more controlled flight than any ball. Maybe something about Spirit of the Game is the key, or the body control that's required for non-contact play.

Who knows, but top coed teams from around North America are here to show the world how it works. And work it does, for the thousands of league and pickup players who have enjoyed coed Ultimate for years.

This year's addition of a coed championship division is an exciting development for the Sport of Ultimate and for the UPA. Mixed gender play gains an outlet to evolve towards similar strategic and competitive levels as in Open & Women's games. And the new division allows cities with too few men or women players to form a top gendered team to participate at the national level, helping to grow the sport and to spread experience to more players.

Ultimate allows mixed gender play as well or better than any other team field sport due to our rules, including non-contact and Spirit of the Game. Highly athletic play among a wide range of player speeds and heights is facilitated by the nature of field movement in Ultimate as well as by the technical aspects of throwing the disc. But most players simply say, it is fun! Perhaps for this reason, coed Ultimate has exploded at the grass-roots level, with leagues in some cities reaching over 100 teams.

Just as Ultimate is gaining recognition as a sport, Coed is gaining recognition as a division. If you look at all the branches of Ultimate, from the grass roots to the elite, from the masters to the juniors, and all the variations of gender ratios, the sport is huge and only getting bigger. By joining together in our passion for whatever type of Ultimate we play, this point can only become more and more apparent, both to the fledgling institutions that support Ultimate and to the outside world of media and sponsorship.

Coed Ultimate creates a venue for men and women to compete as equally valued teammates in sport, as in life. But coed players have a way to go before reaching the strategic and competitive levels attained in the Open and Women's divisions- may our current and future UPA coed players start us off in that direction with Ultimate spirit, fun and grace, both on and off the field.

Many, Many thanks to the sectional and regional coordinators and all the team leaders who helped make this fledgling coed division a success, as well as the original UPA coed committee that officially formed over two years ago to establish and foundation for this year's explosion of interest in coed.

WSL All-Stars

ISO - Attractive, mastelt takes a bold man to come to New York and take charge. Snake Pliskin did it in the early 1980's, and now Josh Faust has followed in his footsteps in the late '90's.

Whereas Pliskin - in infamous antihero of Escape From New York-only had to rescue the President by corralling a bunch of thieves, murderers and professional wrestlers, Sergeant Faust's task was still more difficult: He had to save a Frisbee team from assorted slackers, hackers, and guys who thought they could huck.

Six months later after the Sarge united New York forces old and new under the WUDI banner, his troops are ready for the battle under the hot Florida sun. Gone are those who are too soft or weak or old for the New Order. Not to mention those who washed away with the Tide. In their stead are the modern Westchester All-Stars, Brothers-in-Arms whose mottoes, loosely translated from the original Latin, Mean: <sup>1</sup>'That's some good lookin' out<sup>2</sup> and <sup>3</sup>I got your back brother.<sup>2</sup> The heart and soul of this squad is located in defensive leaders Andy Scheman (making his 14th consecutive Nationals appearance). Ron Papaned (who has sent an opponent to the hospital for 14 consecutive practices) and Arnold Sanchez ( who has missed 14 straight but still leads the team in tourney blocks)

On offense, Sgt. Faust runs the show with and iron claw and a patch over one eye ( he doesn't see too well on the left side). Chicken Joe McHugh - all of whom date back to the Pliskin era when New York was run by savage inmates with guns on their chests. And of course, never far from the action is two-way superstar Chris Phillips. Old Snake had 24 hours to save the Republic and get out of town. For Sgt. Faust and the boys, the odyssey will take a little longer. But that ain't a problem when 20 guys got your back.

Furious George

Even up here in Canada we know that the tournament to get to, the one that boasts all the marbles in the World of Ultimate, is the UPA Nationals. It's been a tournament we've been trying to get to for quite some time now, battling in the gnarly Northsest Section for a bid. But this year we beat a monkey off our backs ( which resembled more of a salmon actually) to qualify for what we've been affectionately calling "The Show." Furious is a four year old team of players from the Vancouver region who have made a steady climb in the higher echelons of the sport. We've done this not at the US Nationals of course, but on the World scene. We placed third last year in the World Club Championships in our home town (losing to the aforementioned fish in the semis), and as most know by now, won the World Championships in Blaine this past summer, beating DoG in pool play and in the semi-finals, then beating Japan in an emotional and well played final game. However, we realize that this is what you Americans peak for, and as the first Canadian men's team ever to qualify, we've worked damn hard to hit our highest level of Ultimate too. We're stoked to be competing in Florida against such a strong field, and we hope that is we win, y'all don't gang up on us and shoot us or something - just think of Canada as a U.S. state and it won't feel so bad.

Ripplt

Ripplt formed in September of 1996 with 10 players from another San Francisco south bay coed team called Ebb&Flow plus a number of other talented and high spirited players. The name originated from evolving slang at the Stanford pickups games. Many phrases for requesting the huck were used , such as send it?!, put it!, or rip it!. Once we made the connection to frogs (rippit-ribbit) and decided on dark green soccer jerseys the name was set.

Ultimate Addiction, Southern Region

There is a team from South Cackey
Who are Coed, Naked, and Nappy;
They are addicted to disc
And must get their fix
To keep these Ultimate Addicts Happy!

Blind Date Bio

ISO - Attractive, masterful, 5'3" - 6'4" multi-gender frisbee team from DC/Balto area seeks frisbee teams of similar composition for play on Florida's gulf coast. Enjoys spirited play, throws of all kinds, myriad defensive schemes, good-natured drunken heckling and socializing. No whiners, please. If interested please qualify for the first ever Coed Nationals

Disclicous Bio

Having fun, playin by the spirit, and partying hard is the motto for Disclicous. Disclicous is a Texas based team of friends just wanting to play Ultimate and have as much fun as possible doing it. The team was brought together by inspiration and a great deal of perspiration over the last 10 years together. This team has achieved its goals, just by playing with as much spirit as humanly possible. Playing with a competitive intensity but holding the spirit of the game first and foremost above winning at all cost. We believe that there are no losers, if you play the game the way it was intended to be played - just a bunch of friends out having a good time together. "It's all about spirit"(JN)
"Remember the bare necessities of life." (Baloo)

BackHoe

After a couple years of transition, BackHoe has settled into a cohesive farm, I mean Ultimate, machine. We are a young team, rebuilt from remnants of seasoned Grits, spunky Mischief, salty Seaweed, fly-by-night Harveys, speedy Pleiades and newly relocated ultimate women. While it may be Backhoe's first appearance at Nationals, many of its players have played both college and women's Nationals. And the ones that haven't are way psyched.

BackHoe, by our definition, is an Ultimate machine having great hands attached to strong arms hinged on determined women that is drawn toward the goal during operation. Never before has there been a backhoe that could move so fast, huck so far, or drink to the very last. When the game gets tough, the BackHoe gets digging.

The Huckster Bio.....

We're the Florida frisbee team that likes to drink, what else can one say of the Huckster in Plaid?
I'll tell you what I tend to think:
Don't behave at all if you can't behave bad!

Catshit Bio

Catshit is new to the nationals stage; and we're proud to join Peppers, Ring, Backhoe and Rage We've worked hard to get here; we've dreamed of this chance to join all you cats at the Ultimate

Dance, so here is our team roster, the whole catshit crew and a line on what each of these felines can do...

Clau poaches throws like a chef poaches eggs
Need muscular cuts? Then Hope's got the legs
Suzanne is a veteran, wily and wise
Chris will snag any disc outta the skies
Karen's got two kids - she's the team marna
Marie learned to play in Nepal from a lama
Lori's deep throw's are a shot from a rifle
Tracy's so tall that we all call her Eiffel
When the pressure is on, Kristi leads the attack and Tina mark like a bulldog on crack
Ashley learns so fast, the whole team is jealous
And Debbie hits backhands like Monica Seles
Danielle's O Chilly 'cause she's a Canuck;
Susie's arm's itchy; the girl loves to huck!
Shari's so hot that she has burned out her feet
Maria would lay out on rocks or on concrete
Kim's high-release makes a marker feel faint
While Caryn sticks to you like all-weather paint
Emily's throws are sweeter than honey
She's looking for Linda whose deep cuts are money
Finally there is Jackie, our Rookie Supreme
And there you have it: the whole Pittsburgh team.

Got our tunes on the boom-box; we're raucous and loud and we're here in Sarasota to make Pittsburgh proud!!!

Pocomoke

In the summer of '97 a frightening regional phenomenon was reported in the Pocomoke river system, "a rowdy band of ambush predators that swarm and spew toxins, rendering prey weak and immobile" Spurred by costal nutrients and a plethora of run-off fecal chicken matter these known troublemakers now threaten the entire eastern seaboard, a sighting recorded as far as the gulf coast of Florida in fall of '97.

The fall of '98 sees a return of the so-called "cell from hell" as this "shape shifting organism bearing at least 24 life forms, two candidate toxins, and a bizarre relationship with the fish it kills" tracks the river systems of our great nation. What began as a simple fishkill blamed on polluted water now begs the question, will this gruesome orgy drag Pocomoke form the sediment into the spotlight?

Miami Refugees

Along the South Florida coast lies a jewel of the Caribbean. The city of Miami rises from the marsh of the Everglades to meet the warm waters of the Gulf Stream. Hailing this tropical paradise, the Miami Refugees have a long and storied tradition. Born out of the remains of several South Florida teams, the Refugees first took flight in the early eighties. They have been frequent guests and sometimes hosts at Nationals. Like the city of Miami, the Refugees boast an unparalleled diversity. Many of the players are native Floridians, although the name belies this fact. Others come from such exotic lands as Venezuela, California and Indiana. Bounded to the north and west by verdant pastures of retirement communities, Miami is stronghold for the senior citizen set. In keeping with this tradition, the Refugees are manned by a host of "silver" players who may not be fast, but they vote. Coming out of the resurgent Southeast Region, the Refugees took second to earn a spot at this year's Nationals.

Philly Peppers

Our name says where we are from. Nineteen women playing as one. Eleven new recruits none of them slackers The rest of us are "final game trackers".

We're at Nationals been here before. Told we're not leavn' til we even the score. Watch out Nemesis and Ozone too This is the year we're gonna dance for you. One, two, three, four Bond girl, Bond girl.

Sweet, cool, spicy and hot, Peppers want the number one spot. Move over Godiva, step aside Verge Prepare yourselves for the Pepper surge.

Ultimate teams from across the nation. You can feel the Pepper sensation! One, two, three, Four disco, disco

U-N-I-T-E

Cool offense and lay-out D!

We're comin on strong and we're running fast.

This is OUR season, it may be the last.

We want the trophy in Philly-Town

We're going to the top, and we're not backing down. One, two, three, four, grind it, grind it.

Raleigh News and Observer personals:

Ring of Fire seeks transcendence and mastery at the National championships. Damn straight! Hard working, loyal and committed. Ages 20-35+, with a variety of interests including mountain biking during sectionals, river guiding, finding every possible spot for a marker disc, and chewin tobacco. Yeah boy! Hailing from North Carolina, we got rivers, sticks and sandy in the beaches. We are an eclectic blend of youthful arrogance and veteran savvy. The best way to summerize our Ultimate play, "It burns, burns, burns, the ring of fire."

Red Tide

Red tide was formed in 1988 by several University of Maine and Orono graduates. The teams initial focus was on having fun and hosting the Clambake. The Clambake has turned into the nationally renowned tournament that most attendees consider the single best party in Ultimate, bar none. The Clambake and associated activities have helped raise over $30,000 for Maine Special Olympics since 1993.

While Red Tide has kept its initial focus (fun and Clambake) in tact, beginning in 1992 experienced club players began moving to Portland, Maine and providing some structure to the existing talent base. In the fall of 1992, Red Tide won its first games at Open Regionals going 2-2 on Saturday. In 1996, Red Tide qualified to play Sunday at Open Regionals and was knocked out in the game-to-go to the game to go by a NY team. The following year Red Tide added more talent but realized the same result, this time to Snapple(a/k/a/rOQ and Dark Horse). In 1998, Red Tide again added more talent and finally cleared the game-to-go hurdle and beat a very good Dark Horse team to earn the right to play in its first Nationals. Significant 1998 tournament results have included: Eastern Champion, No border champions, Tune Up runner-up in the A-pool (to sub-zero), Clambake runner-up (to Dark Horse), and third at Regionals (after ceding the 2nd spot to NY).

Fu"nforus

Yay as I pry open the molden sarcophagus, so the stench of years of decay does chastise me for my discourteous encroachment. Ghoulish countenance, emergent of noxious effuvium, fixes zombied gaze on its awadener, disturber of quiescend dimise. TheThe field creature's ire-wrought eyes scowl accusations: usurper? Flight is blocked - the chamber's dank wall entomb, encrypt. Kein Ausgang. Lo, Death has reared himself a throne. Oh, wretched sanctum? Deep into the darkness peering, long I stand there wondering, fearing. "Frumius Cerberus, three-headed Moonjimbob, clammy defender of Death's glorious gate, temper thy wrath!" But the undead beast, disquieted and discontent, shows no ruth as summons the forgotten forces of the underworld to capture me in its fold and belch its cold ultimatum: DoG!

- Please request as far in advance as possible through Rex/Vic
- The "standard package": active line/goal calls, passive foul calls
- Once you go to observer, all argument is over
- Time limit between points

1:

After any on-field dispute has lasted 30 seconds, an Observer will step in and ask the players to conclude the discussion immediately. The Observer will take steps to mediate and facilitate a rapid resolution to the disagreement, including making a ruling on the play if (and only if) requested to do so by either of the players involved in the dispute.

2:

Time between goals. 90 seconds after a goal is scored, an Observer will raise one hand and announce loudly "90 seconds". The Observer will make similar announcements every 15 seconds thereafter until the disc is pulled. The purpose here is not to enforce any time limit, but to provide feedback and a gentle incentive to keep the game moving.

Proposed Pull Rule Changes

If the pull "lands and stays in-bounds" or "is caught in bounds" you play it from that point.

If the disc initially lands in-bounds, then goes out-of bounds, the receiving team gains possession at the point on the playing field proper nearest to where the disc first went out of bounds.

If the disc lands out of bounds you can:

1. Put the disc into play at the point on the playing field proper nearest to where the disc first went out of bounds.

2. Request a re-throw.

3. Call Middle/Brick and Signal (raise hand above head), then the receiving team may choose to put the disc into play halfway between the two sidelines either at the point on the playing field proper closest to where the disc went out-of-bounds or at a point 20 yards upfield from the goal line which they are defending.

The receiving team can call re-throw, if the defense is off-sides at the time of the pull.
